CentOS® 6 End Of Life

If you're running CentOS® 6, you know that support for version 6 ends in November 2020. When a Linux distro reaches End Of Life, it's more than the end of a long affair. It's the start of a new dangerous liaison. That's because EOL means no more vendor support, and no more operating system security patches or bug fixes. You can't run your servers without OS support, so what should you do?

Get Extended Lifecycle Support for CentOS® 6 provided by CloudLinux Inc*. It lasts through June 30, 2024, so you'll be covered for years to come.

No migration

Run a single script. No reboot is necessary, just add a new repository file.

Updates for Hosting Packages

Continual updates for Apache, PHP, MySQL, Glibc, OpenSSL, OpenSSH, and cPanel.

No Security Issues

Our support lasts through June 30, 2024, giving you ample time to migrate.

Attractive Pricing

Starting at $3 per server, our support is priced to be easy on IT budgets.
